Aspiration

We aspire to greater things. Of course, self-confidence is the badge beneath every success. But it is the thing above all else we must feel, not merely assume, to command results. In building up this unusual establishment we have borne in mind that the rudiments of the jeweler's success is high quality, exclusive stocks and lowest prices. Perception tells that it has given our efforts marked success.

TWO STRANGERS ARE HELD AS BURGLARS

Charley Thompson and James Kelley
Are Arrested For Taking Goods
From Restaurant

Two strangers, Charley Thompson and James Kelley, both of whom have all the earmarks of bad characters, were arraigned before Judge Walker in municipal court Saturday on a charge of burglary. Thompson was examined while his partner went through preliminary proceedings and both were bound over for trial at the spring term of court.

Steal From Restaurant.
One night last week a quantity of household goods such as silverware, dishes, spoons and clothing was stolen from rooms above Ucker's restaurant on Thayer street. The property was owned by Mr. Ucker and he at once made known his loss to the police.

A few evenings later, Officer O'Malley learned that a fellow with a sack of articles answering the description of those taken from the restaurant was going about the saloons endeavoring to dispose of the plunder. Officer O'Malley traced the man to the City Hotel where in the bar room he found Thompson with some of the stolen goods in his possession. As soon as he noticed the policeman enter the place he dropped an ash tray, which he was trying to sell, into the pocket of a man standing near him. The officer without further delay arrested Thompson. On information given out by the prisoner, Kelley was taken into custody the same night. Most of the stolen goods were recovered and returned to the owner.

May Plead Guilty.

In municipal court three saloon men were present to testify against the pair. Thompson did not deny having committed the burglary and expressed a desire to waive examination which was granted. The evidence against Kelley was sufficient to warrant the court binding him over for trial.

It is the opinion of the authorities that Thompson will plead guilty before Judge Billings and receive sentence before the end of the week.

PREPARE FOR THE SEASON

Knapp & Jones Are Now Advertising Sugar Camp Resort

E. W. Knapp, of Knapp & Jones, proprietors of Sugar Camp resort, has already commenced to make preparations for the coming season. He has sent large quantities of catalogues and other advertising literature to all the large cities of the east and middle west with the expectancy of attracting large numbers of sportsmen to his resort next summer. People who have enjoyed the comforts and hospitality of Sugar Camp hotel know that northern Wisconsin has but few resorts as charming. Indian Lake, one of the prettiest bodies of crystal water in the state, teems with pike and muskallonge, two of the leading game fish. Good guides and boats can always be obtained. In fact, nothing is lacking which might add to the pleasure of those seeking sport and recreation.

Last year many wealthy tourists from Milwaukee, Chicago and St. Louis spent the entire season at Sugar Camp and have written for accommodations there this year. The resort is also very popular among Rhineland people. In order to properly accommodate their patrons in 1910 Messrs. Knapp & Jones may erect several new cottages.

WOODSMAN IS HURT

John Golden, a woodsman employed in a camp near Armstrong Creek, came to the city Saturday, suffering with a broken arm and badly bruised shoulder as the result of being struck by a falling tree while at work that morning. After having his injuries dressed by Dr. Elliott, the man left for his home at Chelsea. Golden had a brother killed in the woods near Ladysmith last winter.

ANNUAL MEETING

The second annual meeting of the Rhineland Business Men's Association will be held Friday evening, February 25th, 1910, at the city hall. Many of the old residents vividly remember the occasion.

COLD ENOUGH FOR YOU?

Rhineland is in Grasp of Genuine Winter Weather

People who heretofore have known a fair tale about the ground hog and his shadow are beginning to see the error of their overdrawn imaginations. Old inhabitants will agree that February is usually the coldest month of the year regardless of whether the wood chuck stays out of his hole or goes back to hibernate. This month has been no exception and has brought to Rhineland and northern Wisconsin in general some plain old fashioned winter weather. While the days for the last week have been bright and snappy the nights have been very cold. Early yesterday morning the government thermometer at the sub station, recognized as the most reliable in the city, registered 27 below zero. This is conceded by every one as the coldest spell felt here this winter.

Just when the coal man was becoming desperate over the dullness of his business, Medicine Hat came to his relief, and sent down a cold wave which caused him to work overtime filling the avalanche of orders for carbon nuggets. How long the mercury will remain under the zero mark is a problem, but all look for a warmer change by July 4th.

WORKING MEN NAME THEIR CITY TICKET

Rhineland Laborers Place Candidates in Field For the Various Municipal Offices

That the laboring men of Rhineland are going to take an active part in the coming municipal election in April is shown by the fact that they have already placed a ticket in the field.

Slate is Arranged

At a meeting of the toilers, held Thursday evening, a city ticket was arranged and put in nomination, but for various reasons it was deemed advisable to make a few changes in the list of candidates and at a second gathering last evening the following permanent slate was agreed upon:

Mayor—Sam Perinier,
City Treasurer—Herman Zander,
City Comptroller—Chas. Morrill,
City Assessor—Porter Foster.

Aldermen and Supervisors

First ward—
Alderman—P. J. Hazelquist,
Supervisor—Oliver Thompson.

Second ward—
Alderman—Christ Berg,
Supervisor—Wm. Herrick.

Third ward—
Alderman—Frank Malone Sr.,
Supervisor—Chas. Crofoot.

Fourth ward—
Alderman—H. J. Danfield,
Supervisor—John Cyr.

Fifth ward—
Alderman—Nelson Warden,
Supervisor—Henry Morrill.

Sixth ward—
Alderman—Thos. Wight,
Supervisor—Lynn Thompson.

Is Largely Attended

The meeting was well attended and aside from selecting candidates many important matters of interest to the working men of Rhineland and the country at large were earnestly discussed. As can be readily seen, several of those whose names appear as candidates, are prominent members of the social democratic party in Rhineland, although the ticket is to be recognized as an independent one.

It was decided to hold weekly meetings each Wednesday evening from now until election day. The topic for next Wednesday is, "Why Officials Should Sign a Recall in the Value of the Referendum." A cordial invitation is extended to all laboring people to be present and learn what the referendum recall means.

ONCE LECTURED HERE

Gen. Bragg, one of the most notable among the surviving commanders of the civil war, celebrated his eighty-third birthday at Fond du Lac, Saturday. He is still hale and hearty for one of his years and enjoying perfect health. In the early days of Rhineland, Gen. Bragg once lectured at Gilligan's hall, then the opera house. He was greeted by an audience which packed the building. Many of the old residents vividly remember the occasion.

YOUNG NEWBOLD LAD SENT BEHIND BARS

Geo. Layonnais, Aged 17 Years, Admits To Stealing—His Mother Upholds Him

George Layonnais Jr., a youth about seventeen years of age, from the town of Newbold, is a prisoner at the county jail serving a sentence for stealing.

Steal Goods at Station
Frequently of late quantities of freight consigned to residents of Newbold have been confiscated from the station platform. Farmers and lumbermen going to the railroad for their shipments of provisions would be vexed at finding some of the packages from the original bills missing. These annoying thefts have been continuing with astounding rapidity, the raiders apparently becoming bolder with each succeeding haul.

Search Layonnais' Home

One day last week a tub of butter and a keg of herring billed to August Peter at Newbold mysteriously disappeared. Young Layonnais was suspected of the theft and armed with a search warrant, Deputy Sheriff Wubker and Mr. Peter went to the Layonnais home to search the premises for the stolen goods. Mrs. Layonnais, the boy's mother, objected strongly to such proceedings and it was only after considerable difficulty that the men entered the house. A hurried examination resulted in finding the keg of fish concealed under a bed and the butter buried in a pile of snow back of the dwelling.

The woman and her son protested that they had purchased the goods, but the story was too thin for Deputy Wubker to believe and he placed young Layonnais under arrest.

Get Light Sentence

The case came up in municipal court Monday. The boy pleaded guilty to a charge of theft and was sentenced to ten days in jail. In view of Layonnais' tender age and also the fact that he was upheld in his wrong doing by his mother and therefore not wholly responsible, Judge Walker let him off with light punishment.

While it is not believed that the Layonnais family is to blame for all the past thefts committed in the town of Newbold, yet it is thought that the boy's arrest will prove a warning to others of their kind.

WHITE GIRL AMONG INDIANS

Little Nina Morse Taken From Reservation By Milwaukee People

A little white girl named Nina Morse, who for the last few years has been living with a band of Indians on the reservation, has been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Perlin of Milwaukee.

When the child, who is now seven years of age was scarcely more than an infant, she was brought into Vilas county by her parents. The mother soon died and the father then deserted his little daughter, leaving her in the rude cabin where she was found a day or two later by some Indians who happened that way. They took her to the reservation where she since remained until found by the kind hearted Milwaukee couple. The child has been with the red skins so long that she has cultivated many of their traits, but is now, according to the Milwaukee papers, fast becoming acquainted with the ways of the whites and plays with dolls with as much delight as any other good little American girl.

NAMES ON BALLOTS.

Two years ago some dissatisfaction arose regarding the position of the names upon the ballot for city officers. A City Clerk Swedberg announced that the names will be placed in alphabetical order irrespective of the time of filing.

This plan has long since been adopted by County Clerks and Mr. Swedberg is acting in accordance with the advice of the Attorney General.

Nomination papers can now be filed more than fifteen nor less than four days before election. est spot on the map not barring the Nomination papers for the various north pole. On Thursday morning the government thermometer there registered 36 degrees below zero and Friday morning dropped to 41 degrees.

MAY LOSE LICENSE

Council Can Punish Saloon Men Who Sell To Indians

Selling liquor on Sunday in violation of the statute is sufficient cause for the revocation of a saloon license according to the attorney general's department of Wisconsin. In answer to a query from District Attorney McDonald of Oshkosh, the district attorney intimated that a crusade against the saloons in that city was about to be inaugurated and he desired to become familiar with the law.

A similar question was received from Gov. Davidson in which he asks: "I desire your official opinion as to whether the sale of liquor to Indians who are wards of the federal government, constitutes such an offense as to make it mandatory on the officials granting license of parties convicted of such sales." While this question has been passed upon by the supreme court and is a very close question, it is mandatory upon the licensing authorities to revoke the license whenever evidence shows that liquor has been sold to Indians, according to the opinion.

BOARD NAMES HEADS OF SUMMER NORMALS

Regents Select Principals of Schools At Eau Claire, Oconto and Rhineland

As a further addition to the series of summer schools with which the old institute system is to be replaced, the teachers' committee of the board of regents of normal schools, at a meeting at Madison, Tuesday, provided for summer schools to be held this year at Eau Claire, Rhineland and Oconto.

Principals and Salaries

The Eau Claire schools will be under the charge of Prof. C. E. Paltzer, supervisor of practice at the Milwaukee state normal. Prof. Asa M. Royce, institute conductor of the Superior normal, will be principal of the Rhineland school, and Prof. A. M. Olson of the Marinette Training school will be at the head of the Oconto school.

Each of these positions carry a salary of $250 per month, but in addition to this, an allowance of $50 each is made to compensate the principals for the time spent preliminary to the opening of the schools in arranging details of organization.

Committee of Regents.

The teachers' committee which took this action is composed of Regents John Harrington, Oshkosh; Duncan McGregor, Platteville, and Supt. C. P. Cary, Madison. Meeting at the same time, Regents Thomas Morris of La Crosse, C. H. Crownhart of Superior and H. C. Hamilton of Whitewater, composing the executive committee of the board, took up routine matters.

RARE PHILIPPINE CURIOS.

Sergt. Manville Has Bolos and War Implements From Islands.

Jerry Manville, sergeant of F Troop, 6th Cavalry U. S. A., who has just returned with his company from service in the Philippine Islands, arrived in the city Saturday to visit relatives.

Mr. Manville has been in the regular army for eight years. Much of this time was spent in the Philippines and he has a fund of interesting stories of his experiences on the islands. He has brought with him a large collection of bolos and other war implements used by the natives, also rare curios of all kinds picked up in his travels. That the people of Rhineland may have an opportunity to view this collection, he has kindly consented to place it on exhibition at the public library from 2 to 3:30 o'clock next Saturday afternoon.

While about the city Mr. Manville wears his army uniform.

MINOCQUA IS COLDEST

W. C. Orr, who returned from Minocqua last Friday night, says he believes that that village is the coldest spot on the map not barring the north pole. On Thursday morning the government thermometer there registered 36 degrees below zero and Friday morning dropped to 41 degrees.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made in Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They do the work whenever you require their aid. These tablets change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, gloominess into joyousness. Their action is so gentle one doesn't realize they have taken a purgative. Sold by All Dealers.

O. E. Bowen, the hustling editor and publisher of the Eagle River Review, was in the city, Tuesday. Mr. Bowen says that it is very evident the people of Eagle River and Vilas county appreciate the Review when unsolicited, his subscription list keeps rapidly increasing. It is at this time of year when his job department is working over time turning out catalogues and circulars for the many summer resorts in that part of the country.

C. P. Crosby, the well known lumberman and automobile enthusiast of Rhinelander, Wis., was in Chicago last week attending the automobile show. Mr. Crosby is endeavoring to find an automobile that would beat the record he had established between Rhinelander and Wausau. It is reported that he found several that he thought might do the trick.

W. C. Landon, of Wausau, and O. F. Ricker, of Rhinelander, well-known lumbermen of Wisconsin, were Chicago visitors last week.—Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

Mrs. M. Taggart of Bundy was in the city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Koch of Oconto were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. John Bloom.

R. W. Richardson, publisher of the Hawkins Reporter, has purchased the Star at Glen Flora.

Drs. Irvine and Moray, two practicing physicians of Manawa, who are well known in Rhinelander, are about to open a hospital for performing operations at Manawa.

C. E. Olmstead, a former employee of the Soo line, is now representative for the Woodmen's Casualty Company and will make Rhinelander his headquarters. His territory comprises many of the northern counties.

If a country editor were to snap at all the inducements held out he would soon become a millionaire. If he ran a paper according to the popular notion he would be in the poor house. If he published all the items that were sent to him he would be in jail half the time and in the hospital the other half.—Ex.

Dr. M. P. Ravenel of the University of Wisconsin, an authority on tuberculosis, declares it is folly for consumptives to go west. "Stay in your own state," is his advice, "but live in the out-of-doors with an abundance of fresh air and sunlight. Climate has very little to do with it, except in individual cases."

H. E. Schellenger, night foreman at the Soo line round house, has in his possession several fine views of the recent Canadian Pacific train wreck near Sudbury, Ont. At the time of the wreck the press published the story that the railway officials would allow no one to take photographs of the scene. This was evidently untrue as the pictures owned by Mr. Schellenger were secured a short time after the accident while the wrecking crew was engaged in raising the cars from the river bed.

Mr. E. A. Kelley, Belvidere, Ill., writes us: "I am an ex-engineer with 22 years active service to my credit. About three years ago my kidneys were affected so that I had to give up my engine. First I was troubled with severe aching pain over the hips. Then followed inflammation of the bladder, and spocks appeared before my eyes. A sample of Foley's Kidney Pills that I tried, so benefited me that I bought more. I continued to take them until now I can safely testify they have made me a sound and well man."

Are our merchants prepared to meet the competition, constantly growing more attractive to the unthinking, of those alluring spring catalogues from the metropolitan department stores? Of course the bargains at home are better when you consider that the home merchant gives you personal attention and the chance to return goods that are not what was represented. But the public forgets this, trade has to be drummed, and the only efficient drummer for the home merchant is the local newspaper.—Parker (Pa.) Phonix.

Lewis Moore has just recovered from a severe attack of tonsillitis.

J. Segerstrom left Sunday night for Chicago where after spending a few days on business he may decide to go south to remain the balance of the winter.

Chief of Police Straub is now the proud possessor of Spright, Dr. Stone's fine driving horse, having purchased the animal from the doctor, Monday.

Hervey Johnson has been succeeded as night baggagemaster, at the Soo depot by Roy White. Hervey may re-enter the employ of the company in some other capacity.

A. Houart, former secretary of the Rahr Brewing Co. of Green Bay, is in the city and will begin his duties as manager for the new Rhinelander Brewing Company the first of next month. Mr. Houart was, with the Rahr company twenty-two years, beginning as a book-keeper.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a very valuable medicine for throat and lung troubles, quickly relieves and cures painful breathing and a dangerously sounding cough which indicates congested lungs. Sold by All Dealers.

Ralph Polley entertained a party of twelve Rhinelander gentlemen at his cottage up the Wisconsin river last Sunday. Ralph made his guests feel right at home and all enjoyed themselves to the limit. A big box sleigh from Goulette's livery barn was the conveyance which carried the merry makers to and from the scene of festivities.

Owen Ryan, woods superintendent for Geo. Langley, the Merrill logger, spent Sunday in the city. He states that the winter has been an exceptionally good one for the jobbers and all of them will make money on their contracts. If the weather continues favorable, Mr. Langley will finish his winter's cut in about four weeks.

M. J. Slattery, whose tailor shop was destroyed by fire last week, informs us that he will re-embark in the business here just as soon as he can find a suitable building. Mr. Slattery carried $500 insurance and received a check from the company for that amount, Tuesday.

More people are taking Foley's Kidney Remedy every year. It is considered the most effective remedy for all kidney and bladder troubles that medical science can devise. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects irregularities, builds up the system, and restores lost vitality.

J. J. Reardon.

The train on which Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krueger were passengers enroute to their new home at Crookston, Minn., figured in a slight wreck while nearing Minneapolis. A team of horses being driven by a farmer on his way to market was struck by the train while attempting to go over a road crossing, causing the engine and one coach to leave the track. Both animals were killed, but the driver escaped uninjured. None of the people on the train were hurt. With the other passengers Mr. and Mrs. Krueger received one dollar each for signing a release presented by the claim agent.

Have you a weak throat? If so, you cannot be too careful. You cannot begin treatment too early. Each cold makes you more liable to another and the last is always the hardest to cure. If you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at the outset you will be saved much trouble. Sold by All Dealers.

When "Doctor" Till was pasting plasters on the backs of afflicted man kind at Almena, two of the Soo line's fastest passenger trains, limited 7 and 8, stopped at that village. As soon as Till moved to other fields the railway company gave orders for the trains to no longer stop there and as a result the citizens became very indignant. An appeal to the state railway commission was made but that body agreed that the present train service was all the village needed and dismissed the petition.

FOR THE AMBITIOUS WOMAN. A great man said, "Be not the first to try a new thing nor the last to forsake an old."

But note,—in this life the time always comes to throw over the old for the new. Time itself is change. You must change with time or fall behind the procession.

Don't let prejudice keep you from the benefits your neighbors enjoy,—from modern improvements in all lines.

Baking Powders have improved along with everything else. But you'll never know it till you try K C Baking Powder. Guaranteed the Best at Any Price,—the acme of perfection, the splendid result of modern scientific research.

If you don't agree that K C Baking Powder makes your baking lighter, sweeter, more delicious than any other, your grocer refunds your money. The manufacturers guarantee that your baking will always be perfectly raised, sweet and palatable, pure and wholesome.

And K C costs you less,—no "Trust" prices, but a fair price for a perfect Baking Powder. You'll marvel at the saving and ask how it can be done. Answer,—Not in the "Trust."

Women who Suffer

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are the best pain remedy on earth. Mother and I have used them for the past seven years."

MISS ORLEANA SCHENKE, Enid, Okla.

Pain is simply nerve disturbance. Derangements in any part of the body irritate the nerves centered there.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills stop pain and misery because they allay this irritation. Women find great relief from periodical suffering by taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills on first indication of pain or distress.

The first package will benefit. If not, your druggist will return your money.

And what has happened to the groundhog in all this cold weather?

W. J. Morgan and Geo. Knapp both skillful bowlers of this town have issued a challenge to any two men in Rhineland for dollars a side, the contest to be decided at the Anderson alleys Saturday evening. As yet the men have been unable to find one who will accept the challenge but it is thought that a match will be arranged before the end of week.

The county jail, which for the last two months has been practically vacant, now contains four prisoners. Sheriff Jilison and Under-Sheriff Baldwin were thinking seriously of closing the hotel for the balance of the season when the quartette of boarders came to break the solitude. The sheriff says the place is by means over crowded, however, as it still has a few nice rooms, all steam heated and burglar proof, for the accommodation of guests.

IN WASHINGTON, D. C.,
EVERYBODY KNOWS

I find Pe-ru-na very valuable for rebuilding of a worn and tired
system.

CHIVALROUS, high-minded, impulsive, generous, courteous, loyal, a believer in good fellowship, a lover of home, magnanimous to enemies, true to friends, is a reputation that any man may well envy. No man better exemplifies this description than Col. William Camp, whose testimonial is given below. His unique figure and charming personality is well known in the streets of the capital city of the United States. His word is as good as his bond. His frankness and truthfulness no one has ever questioned that knew him.

Read what he says concerning Peruna.
"I write to say that I have used Peruna and find it a very valuable remedy for coughs or colds and rebuilding of a worn and tired system, dissipating and craticating that old tired feeling."—Col. William Camp, 1740 L St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

MR. CHAS. BROWN, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I feel it my duty to write you a few words in praise of your Peruna. I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder. A friend advised me to take Peruna for indigestion, and it cured me in a short time. I was very weak and nervous, could sleep but little at night, but Peruna cured that tired, all-gone feeling, and made me feel like a new man, so I heartily recommend it to all who are weak and run down. It will give new life and energy. I cannot speak too highly of Peruna, and will not forget to recommend it." Peruna is manufactured by the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio.

FEW HONOR WASHINGTON
The public and parochial schools and business college were closed Tuesday in observance of Washington's birthday. Monday afternoon literary programs in commemoration of the first president were held in all the grades.

Washington's birthday was not recognized to any extent by the people of Rhinelander. Some of the more patriotic citizens displayed flags from their residences and business places, but aside from this the day went by unnoticed. The post office was closed, but the banks and stores remained open. The New North gave its force a vacation in the afternoon.

PREJUDICE.
Curious to state, prejudice keeps us out of more good things than does lack of opportunity.
We often pass by an article of merit because the price is low. The same article at double the price would find us eager to try it. K C Baking Powder sells for one-third the price of the Baking Powders controlled by the "Trust."
Yet K C is guaranteed the Best Baking Powder at any price.
The ladies of this city who have seen what K C Baking Powder will do prefer it to any other. They are only too glad to save their money and get a better article. It's the difference between "Trust" prices and those of fair, honest competition.
A 25 ounce can of K C Baking Powder for 25 cents.—and your money returned if you don't like it better.

DEATH CALLS YOUNG LIFE

Roy Schafer Passes Away Saturday
After illness with pneumonia Roy Schafer, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schafer of the north side, passed away Saturday morning at the family home, 425 Thayer Street, after an illness of sixteen days with pneumonia.

All that kind hearts and medical skill could do to save the young man's life was of no avail and dishe proved itself the master. To be taken away at this time just as he was entering the door way of manhood makes his death seem doubly sad. The blow is a hard one for his parents to bear and in their sorrow the deepest sympathy is extended to them.

Roy was nineteen years of age. He was a member of the M. W. A. lodge and of the Y. M. C. A. He was an industrious young man and well liked among his friends. Aside from his parents he is survived by four brothers and two sisters. Following a brief prayer at the residence, funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon by Rev. Grant Clark at the Congregational church. Members of the M. W. A. lodge attended in a body and escorted the remains to Forest Home cemetery. Many beautiful flowers from friends and neighbors decorated the casket.

Earl Hager, of Appleton, an uncle of deceased, was present at the funeral.

BAKE-DAY.

Do you look forward to Bake-Day each week with a certain keen interest and pleasant anticipation? Under the right conditions it should be one of the real pleasures of housekeeping. New, clever recipes and a certainty of success in everything you bake are what make the fascination.
"The Cook's Book" will give you the recipes—a splendid collection by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, the noted authority.

K C Baking Powder will give you the certainty. Absolutely no failures. Guaranteed the best at any price, or money refunded.
"Get a 25 cent can of K C Baking Powder at once from your grocer. Send in the certificate you will find to Jacques Mfg. Co., Chicago, with this article, and "The Cook's Book" will be mailed you free. A combination hard to beat!—"The Cook's Book" and K C Baking Powder. You'll be more than pleased.

EPWORTH LEAGUE OFFICERS

The Epworth League of the M. E. church elected officers Monday evening as follows:
President—Anna Adams.
1st Vice-Pres.—Bertha Anderson.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Peter LaPorte.
3rd Vice-Pres.—Clarence Smith.
4th Vice-Pres.—Helen Merrill.
Secretary—Anna Steadman.
Treasurer—Mae Raymond.
Organist—Mrs. D. J. Cole.
Following the election light refreshments were served.

TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The Royal Neighbors lodge at Three Lakes is preparing to observe the eighth anniversary of its establishment on March 2. The Royal Neighbors and the Modern Woodmen of that village will hold a big celebration at the M. W. A. hall. Members of the Rhinelander lodge may be in attendance.

A YOUNG HUSTLER

A very striking illustration that hustle is what counts is brought out by the experience of a boy in our city.

Coming to Rhinelander last August, an entire stranger, young Curtis Hawkins, the ten year old son of W. C. Hawkins, of the Onelda Steam Laundry, has taken an enviable lead among the news agents of our city. During last September he took up the sale of the Saturday Evening Post, commencing with the ten copies furnished by the company. At that time other boys and the news dealers were selling about 75 copies. He increased his sales from week to week, until by January he was handling 90 copies and the others were still handling their usual quota. On the strength of this record he made application to the Post Company for the exclusive agency in Rhinelander and sold his first paper under the agency contract the week of February 12, more than equaling the sales required by the contract. This week he handled more than 200 copies and says he has not reached the limit yet.

He now has fourteen boys and newsdealers taking the Post from his lodge and in a body and escorted their sales by premiums and prizes. This week's prize of $100 cash was won by Lloyd Cain, he having made the largest increase over his last week's sales.

Curtis says there is opportunity for a few more boys especially on the east and the south sides of the city.

Regular lent services in the German language will be conducted each Sunday evening at 7:30 until Easter at the German Lutheran church. Rev. John Dejung, pastor.

Don't labor under the misunderstanding that because you have some fire insurance you are protected in full against heavy losses.

Look the matter straight in the face and see what ratio the amount of insurance you have compares to the total value of your property. In 99 cases out of 100 it is generally one-half to three-quarters less.

A policy in one of our companies, which are the strongest in the field, would cost you no more than one in the weak company that might resort to all the technicalities to delay payment, in case you suffer a loss.

CHAPTER IV.

NO doubt the most absurd thing I could have done after the departure of Professor Keredec and his singular friend would have been to settle myself before my canvas again with the intention of painting, and that is what I did. At least, I resumed my easel stool and went through some of the motions habitually connected with the act of painting.

In fact, I sat there brush paddling my failure like an automaton and saying over and over aloud: "What is wrong with him? What is wrong with him?"

I came out of my varicolored study with a start, caused by the discovery that I had absentmindedly squeezed upon my palette the entire contents of an expensive tube of coral violet.

The turpentine rag at least proved effective. I scoured away the last tokens of my failure with it, wishing that life were like the canvas and that men had knowledge of the right celestial turpentine. After that I cleaned my brushes, packed and shouldered my kit and, with a final imprecation upon all sausage sandwiches, took up my way once more to Les Trois Pigeons.

Striding along at a good gait and chanting sonorously, "On Linden when the sun was low," I left the rougher bosages of the forest behind me and emerged just at sunset upon an orderly fringe of woodland where the ground was neat and unnumbered and the trimmed trees stood at polite distances, bowing slightly to one another with small, well bred rustlings.

I stood upon Quesnay ground. Before me stretched a short, broad avenue of turf, leading to the chateau gates. A slope was terraced with strips of flower gardens and intervals of sward, and against the green of a rising lawn I marked the figure of a woman pausing to bend over some flowering bush. The lady upon the slope was Mme. d'Armand, the inspiration of Amedee's "Monsieur has much to live for!"

Once more this day I endorsed that worthy man's opinion, for, though I was too far distant to see clearly, I knew that roses trimmed Mme. d'Armand's white hat and that she had passed me no long time since in the forest.

I had come far out of my way, so I retraced my steps to the intersection of the paths and thence made for the inn by my accustomed route. Not far along the road from where I came into it stood an old, brown, deep thatched cottage, a branch of brushwood over the door prettily beckoning travelers to the knowledge that cider was here for the thirsty, and as I drew near I perceived that one availed himself of the invitation. A group stood about the open door, the lamplight from within disclosing the head of the house filling a cup for the wayfarer.

The latter was a most mundane and elaborate wayfarer indeed—a small young man very neatly made, like a jockey and a polite device in khaki, puttees, puttee cap, white and green stock, a knapsack on his back and a bamboo stick under his arm. He spoke, though with a detectable accent, in a rough and ready, picked up dialect of Parisian slang, while Pere Baudry contributed his share of the conversation in a slow patois. As both men spoke at the same time and neither understood two consecutive words the other said, it struck me that the dialogue might prove unproductive of any highly important results this side of Michaelmas. Therefore, discovering that the very pedestrian gentleman was making some sort of inquiry concerning Les Trois Pigeons, I came to a halt and proffered aid.

"Are you looking for Mme. Brossard?" I asked in English.

The traveler uttered an exclamation and faced about with a jump, bird like for quickness.

"Say," he responded in a voice of unpleasant finality, finally deciding upon speech, "you're Nummerican, ain't you?"

"Yes," I returned. "I thought I heard you inquiring for—"

"Well, if friend, you can sting me," he interrupted, with corresponding familiarity. "My style French does fr them camels up in Paris all night. But down here I don't seem to be paid enough fr these sheep does. Anyway, they bark different. I'm lakin' fr a hotel called Les Trois Pigeons."

I pointed to the lights of the inn flickering across the fields. "Yonder—beyond the second turn of the road."

"Oh, I ain't goin' there tonight. It's too dark 't see anything now," he remarked. "Dives and the choco-choc back 't little ole Trouville fr mine! I only wanted to take a lük at this pigeon house joint."

"Do you mind my inquiring," I said, "what you expected to see at Les Trois Pigeons?"

"But if you will pardon me," I said, "where did you get the notion that Les Trois Pigeons is one of the regular sights?"

"No; I don't think that it is mentioned in any of the histories or even the guidebooks."

"Look a-ber," he said, taking a step nearer me, "in claret, now, on your woid, didn't more'n half them Jeanne d'Arc females and William the Conquer live at that hotel wunst?"

"No."

"Stung again!" He broke into a sudden loud cackle of laughter. "Why, a feller at Trouville told me 'at this Pigeon place was all three rings when it come 't history. Yessir!"

I tarried no longer, but, bidding this good youth and the generations of Baudry good night, hastened on to my belated dinner.

"Amedee," I said when my cigar was lighted and the usual hour of consultation had arrived, "isn't that old lock on the chest where Mme. Brossard keeps her silver getting rusty?"

"Monsieur, we have no thieves here. We are out of the world."

"Yes, but Trouville is not so far away, and strange people go to Trouville—grand dukes, opera singers, jockeys, gamblers, tourists."

"Truly," assented Amedee.

"It follows," I continued, "that many strange people may come from Trouville. In their excursions to the surrounding points of interest—"

"Eh, monsieur, but that is true," he interrupted. "There was a strange monsieur from Trouville here this very day."

I had sprained my ankle in a poppy field and must spend little less than a week of illness within the confines of Les Trois Pigeons, and, reclining among cushions in a wicker long chair looking out from my pavilion upon the drowsy garden on a hot noon tide, I did not much care.

A heavy step crunched the gravel, and I heard my name pronounced in a deep inquiring rumble, the voice of Professor Keredec, no less. Nor was I greatly surprised, since our meeting in the forest had led me to expect some advances on his part toward friendliness or at least in the direction of a better acquaintance.

"Here I am," I called, "in the pavilion, if you wish to see me."

"Aha, I hear you become an invalid, my dear sir!" With that the professor's great bulk loomed in the doorway against the glare outside. "I have come to condole with you, if you allow it."

"To smoke with me, too, I hope," I said, not a little pleased.

"That I will do," he returned and came in slowly, walking with perceptible lameness. "The sympathy I offer is genuine. It is not only from the heart; it is from the latissimus dorsi!" he continued, seating himself. "I have choosed this fine weather for rheumatism of the back."

He took from his pocket a worn leather case, which he opened, disclosing a small, browned clay bowl of the kind workmen use, and, filling it with a red stem, he filled it with a dark and sinister tobacco from a pouch. "Always my pipe for me," he said and applied a match, inhaling the smoke as other men inhale the light smoke of cigarettes. "Ha, it is good! It is wicked for the fusties, but it is good for the soul. When I am alone I am a chimney with no belodromatory repose. I smoke forever. It is on account of my young friend I am temperate now."

"He has never smoked, your young friend?" I asked, glancing at my visitor rather curiously, I fear.

"Mr. Saffren has no vices," Professor Keredec replied, his silver rimmed spectacles and turned them upon me with serene benevolence. "He is in good condition, all pure, like little children, and so if I smoke near him he chokes and has water at the eyes, though he does not complain. Just now I take a vacation. It is his hour for study, but I think he looks more out of the front window than at his book—yes, very much since the passing of that charming young lady some days ago."

"You say your young friend's name is Saffren?"

"Olivier Saffren." The benevolent gaze continued to rest upon me, but a shadow like a faint anxiety darkened the Homeric brow. "Finally he said abruptly, 'It is about him that I have come to talk to you.'"

"I shall be very glad."

"Ha, my dear sir," he cried, "but you are a man of feeling! It was the way you have received my poor young gentleman's excuses when he was so rude which makes me wish to talk with you on such a subject. It is why I would not have you believe Mr. Saffren and me two very suspected individuals who hide here like two bad criminals!"

"No, no!" I protested hastily. "The name of Professor Keredec!"

"The name of no man," he thundered, interrupting. "You protect his reputation when he is caught peeping from a curtain! Ha, my dear sir, I know what you think! You think: 'He is a nice, fine man, that old professor—oh, very nice, only he hides behind the curtains sometimes. Very fine man—oh, yes, only he is a spy! Eh? Ha, ha!'"

"Not at all," I laughed. "I thought you might fear that I was a spy."

"Eh?" He became serious.

"I supposed you might be writing a book which you wished to keep from the public for a time and that possibly you might imagine that I was a reporter."

"So! And that is all," he returned with evident relief. "No, my dear sir, I was the spy; it is the truth. I confess my shame. I wish very much to know what kind of a man you are. And so I have watched you."

"Why?" I asked.

"The explanation is so simple; it was necessary."

"Because of—of Mr. Saffren?" I said slowly and with some trepidation.

"Precisely." The professor exhaled a cloud of smoke. "Because I am sensible for him and I am his guardian, but I am not his guardian by the law."

"I had not supposed that you were," I said, "because, though I do not understand his—his case, so to speak, I have not for a moment thought him insane."

"Ha, my dear sir, you are right!" exclaimed Keredec. "He is as sane as anybody in the whole world! Ha, he is now much more sane, for his mind is not yet confused and becombebbled with the useless things you and I put into ours. A few months more—ha, at the greatest a year from now—and he will not be different any longer. He will be like the rest of us, only—the professor leaned forward, and his big fist came down on the arm of his chair—"he shall be better than the rest of us! But if strange people were to see him now," he continued, "it would not do. There are so many who judge quickly. If they should see him now they might think he is not just right in his brain, and then, as it could happen so easily, those same people might meet him again after awhile. 'Ha,' they would say, 'there was a time when that young man was insane, I knew him! And so he might go through his life with those clouds over him!'"

"Ha! I wish you to know my young man," Keredec went on. "You will like him—no man of feeling could keep himself from liking him—and he is your fellow countryman. I hope you will be his friend. He should make friends, for he needs them. You will dine with us tonight?" he suggested.

Acquiescing cheerfully, I added, "You will join me at the table on my veranda, won't you?"

Before answering he cast a sidelong glance at the arrangement of things outside the door. The screen of honey-suckle ran partly across the front of the little porch, about half of which it concealed from the garden and consequently from the road beyond the archway. I saw that he took note of this before he pointed to that corner of the veranda most closely screened by the vines and said:

"May the table be placed yonder?"

"Certainly."

"Ha, that is good!" he exclaimed. Suddenly we heard the rapid hoof beats of a mettled horse. He crossed our vision and the open archway—a high stepping hackney going well, driven by a lady in a light trap which was half full of wild flowers. I had not the least difficulty in recognizing her. At the same instant the startled pigeons fluttered up from the garden path, betaking themselves to flight, and "that other monsieur" came leaping across the courtyard and into the road.

"Look quickly!" he called. "Who is that lady?"

Amedee awoke with a frantic start and launched himself at the archway.

"That lady, monsieur?" he gasped, gazing after the trap. "That is Mme. d'Armand!"

"Mme. d'Armand," Saffren repeated the name slowly. "Her name is Mme. d'Armand?"

"Yes, monsieur," said Amedee complacently. "It is an American lady who has married a French nobleman."

HIS BEST FRIEND

In a letter from Cloverdale, B. C., Bert Watts writes that he could not get along without the New North which reaches him every week. Bert says the paper is the best friend he has struck since going west and without it he would feel lost. In all his roamings along the coast he has not found a place that he likes better than Rhinelander. He sends best regards to all old friends and wants them to write to him at Cloverdale where he is cooking for the Surry Shingle Company.

STAMPS CARRY GERMS

Clerk at the local postoffice, who send stamps and stamped envelopes to the public, have been instructed to hand out these stamps and envelopes to the people, face downward, gummed side upward. This order has been received from the federal postal department at Washington, D. C.

The purpose is to prevent the stamps and gummed flaps of the envelope, from carrying germs from the counter to the mouths of people who lick and stick them. When the gum slides along the counter, it is apt to collect germs, especially from a wooden counter where bacteria are better harbored than on a marbled-top counter.

SHAW WINS $10,000 SUIT

Judge Burnell Decides Mortgage Has Priority Over Other Claims

Samuel Shaw received a telegram Monday from his attorney Chas. Harber of Oshkosh, stating that Mr. Shaw had won his case against the Crandon Manufacturing Co., operators of the hub mill in this city. The case had been taken on a change of venue from Forest county to Winnebago county, and was heard before Judge Burnell at Oshkosh, who determined the priority of Mr. Shaw's claim against the Manufacturing company.

The action was one in which Mr. Shaw sued to foreclose a mortgage of $10,000, money which he loaned the Manufacturing company several years ago on a first mortgage. Later on second and third mortgages were given, and when Mr. Shaw's claim matured the holders of the later mortgages tried to pro rata with Shaw, which virtually would beat Shaw out of a portion of his money. It was an unusual proceeding and the court has decided that it was wrong. M. D. Keith and the First National Bank of Crandon hold the other mortgages and were involved in the litigation. It is quite a victory for Mr. Shaw as the case was hotly contested.—Crandon Republican.

E. C. STERDEVANT,

Clerk Circuit Court, Oneida County, Wis.

OF NO USE TO HIM

Two old settlers sat smoking in their cabin far away in the backwoods says the Dundee Advertiser. No woman's hand had ever desecrated that sanctum, and grime reigned supreme and triumphant. The conversation varied round from state politics to cooking.

"Yaas," said the elder of the two, with a drawl: "I did get one o' them there cook books wunst, but I could never do nothin' with it."

"How was that?" Inquired the other. "What was the hitch?"

"Waal," was the answer, "every one o' them receipts begun in the same way with the same words: 'Every one o' em started off with 'take a clean dish'—and I never got no further.'"

And he slowly replaced his old black clay pipe in his mouth and fell to ruminating sadly on narrow outlook on the world of human beings as displayed by authors of cookery books.—Ex.

A SAFEGUARD TO CHILDREN

"Our two children of six and eight years have been since infancy subject to colds and croup. About three years ago I started to use Foley's Honey and Tar, and it has never failed to prevent and cure these troubles. It is the only medicine I can get the children to take without a row." The above from W. C. Orntstein, Green Bay, Wis., duplicates the experience of thousands of other users of Foley's Honey and Tar.

MINOCQUA.
(From Minocqua Times)

14 inches of snow fell at this place Tuesday and in consequence the north bound passenger was five hours late. More snow fell than has fallen all together this winter.

We are in receipt of a letter from Russell Jouno of Kilbourn in which he informs us that a little daughter arrived at his home some two weeks ago and that Mrs. Jouno and baby are getting along finely.

Margie Huber came down with scarlet fever yesterday and the home has been quarantined. Mr. Huber and Carlyle have gone to the hotel so as to avoid being kept in. This is the only new case with the exception of Gordon McNitt who has been quarantined several weeks owing to the illness of Bert and Harold with scarlet fever.

The Modern Woodmen camp of Woodruff gave a farewell party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ramsdale at their hall last Saturday evening. A large attendance was present and a very enjoyable time is reported by all. Mr. and Mrs. Ramsdale left for Wild River Tuesday and will take charge of the state fish hatchery at that place.

Christ Olson finished moving his household goods to Bradley, Monday.

Mrs. Lewis Olson and baby of Hanson is visiting a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erick Erickson.

The Aid society will meet Thursday, Feb. 24 with Mrs. Henry Kleist.

A few of the young people from here attended the dance at Cassian, Saturday night. All report a good time.

Mrs. G. B. Taylor and daughter Grace spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. R. E. Brown and family.

Gale Huber of Cassian visited old friends at Wicklow, Saturday and Sunday.

Howard Lee and Herbert Fox are working for Fred Collett.

Owing to bad weather no mail was delivered on the rural route, Tuesday.

MONICO SCHOOL NOTES
The sixth month of school will close this week.

Henry Rosinsky was upon the sick list last week.

Lizzie Carley has returned to school after an absence of several weeks.

Bernice Ingersoll left school and moved to Appleton with her parents.
Mrs. A. K. Jilston entertained the teachers last Thursday evening.

The traveling library has fifty-one patrons.

Mabel Melswinkel was severely burned last Thursday evening. The next day she was taken to the hospital at Rhinelander and has been there since. The school wishes her a speedy recovery.

BUNDY
Miss Lucy Bouffoux, the intermediate teacher, was called to her home at Merrill on account of her father's serious illness. Miss Bouffoux returned Monday afternoon stating that her father had much improved.

Julie Demars has been cutting ice. An exceptionally good crop was harvested this year. Julie says he's glad he's through with the job.

The train from Pelican has been coming in at most unusual hours. Saturday it did not arrive until nearly five o'clock.

Mrs. M. Sweet spent Sunday in Rhinelander.

R. T. Wilcox was in Rhinelander for a few days last week.

The "wood mill" ran a few hours Sunday to supply the boarding house with fire wood.

Marie MacDonald has dropped her school work for the year.

The men at the boarding house enjoyed a musical evening, Friday night. Two traveling musicians rendered music of a rare and pleasing type.

C. A. Parker gave a splendid sermon last Thursday evening at the school house. His subject was, "What Owest Thou, My Lord." Church will be held every two weeks.

J. Demars spent Monday in Rhinelander on business.

A "strange" man made his appearance in several Bundy homes Monday night. His visits were short, but entertaining.

Fred Jaeger of Marinette is here on business.

The school children had their pictures taken the other day.

R. Wilcox and V. Bickhardt have put up a supply of ice.

Real winter weather has made its appearance in Bundy.

Various degrees of temperature have been reported by the local residents; one thermometer registered 12 (1) below zero.

Great excitement prevailed in Bundy, Tuesday evening, over the Nelson-Wolgate fight. Many are wishing that their courage had prompted them to accept some of the "big money" offered by Nelson enthusiastically.

Miss Jennings spent Sunday in Rhinelander. We don't know what the attraction is, but Miss Jennings always seems elated upon her return.

Gale Heuber visited at Dan Lee's Saturday and Sunday.

Henry Hackberg and wife were guests of C. Torgerson and family Sunday.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS
On Saturday, Feb. 25, occurs the game between Antigo and Rhinelander. This promises to be a hotly fought contest, because of the rivalry so long existing between the two cities. For a preliminary, Rhinelander girls play against the girls' team at Antigo. A large number of students, teachers, and towns people have signified their intentions of accompanying the teams to Antigo.

A practice game at the Armory with the Co. L boys resulted in a victory for the High school, with the close score of 30-29. Co. L has a good team, and it required all the spirit our boys could put into it to defeat them.

Chas. Walton Seymour gave the first of his series of lectures at the High school, Tuesday night before a small but appreciative audience. The subject treated was Alexander the Great. Mr. Seymour showed a wide knowledge and thorough appreciation of his subject and the lecture was most enjoyable. We frequently hear the complaint that good things rarely come to Rhinelander. It should be added that when anything good does come, people are perfectly satisfied with the knowledge that it is here, and do not go to enjoy it. At the lecture Tuesday evening there were present eight teachers, eight high school pupils and about a dozen townspeople. It seems a pity that so good a course of lectures, given for so worthy a cause, should fall for lack of support. The second lecture of the course will be given Tuesday, March 1, the subject being Father Marquette. It is earnestly hoped that sufficient interest will be stimulated by that time, so that we may have a well filled house to greet Mr. Seymour.

At the Tomahawk game Saturday, Howard Reed had the misfortune to sprain his ankle hence is absent from school. This is a particularly unfortunate accident, as it will probably keep him out of the Antigo game.

The many friends of Hannah Anderson, '10, will be glad to learn that her operation for appendicitis was successful, and that she is getting along nicely. She is still at the hospital, however.

WILL HEAR MCCORD CASES

From the Merrill News it is learned that Judge A. H. Reid, of the circuit court, has notified the attorneys and others interested in the civil action of Mrs. Anna M. McCord vs. R. Melnic defendant, and David Finn mortgagee that Judge E. C. Higbee, of LaCrosse will hear the suit on Tuesday, March 15th, at Merrill.

This is one of the several actions begun by Mrs. Anna M. McCord to get her former rights of property owned or once owned by her husband, M. A. McCord deceased. This action will be of public interest as Mr. McCord was at one time owner of much property in Merrill. Several hundred notices have been served on property owners although only three cases have been started.

The case in Arizona where Mrs. McCord seeks to recover her rights as widow of the late M. H. McCord has been decided against her. The case was heard in district court under the community law and there is a chance for appeal. The cases in Arizona differ from the ones instituted in Merrill. In Wisconsin she seeks her dower right or one third while in Arizona she seeks to recover her homestead rights as his widow.

RESOLUTION.
Adopted by the M. W. A. Camp No. 1749, Rhinelander, Wis.

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty Ruler to remove from our midst one of our beloved Neighbors and Brothers, Roy Schafer, in the very beginning of manhood and the very morning of a bright and sunny life,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, That this camp extends its sympathy to the father and mother of said deceased neighbor in this their hour of sorrow.

RESOLVED further that our Charter be draped in mourning for the next 30 days and that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our meeting and a copy be mailed to Mr. and Mrs. Schafer and one copy be sent to the "New North" for publication.

SCHMIDLER WITH COMISKY

John Schmidler, who three seasons ago did the pitching for the Rhinelander base ball team, has been taken into the fold by Chas. Comisky of the Chicago White Sox and will go in training with the team in California. Last year he was with Duluth in the Wisconsin-Minnesota league and proved so speedy that Comisky, who happened into Duluth one day and watched him play, drafted John as one of his 1910 recruits. The young man has a retinue of admiring friends among the fans of this city who hope that he will make good in fast company. John writes that he has always been his one ambition to get into the big league and now that the opportunity has finally presented itself he intends to stick until he reaches the front row of top notchers.

SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

On Monday evening last, Capt. and Mrs. Turner, Officers of the Salvation Army, played into the hands of their friends very nicely by going out to supper. On their return they found the hall lighted and warm and a number of people awaiting them. The platform was arranged with a bountiful supply of provisions and needless to say it was a pleasant and complete surprise. A pleasant evening was spent. Rev. Bergstrom gave a short address; others also spoke. The hearts of the officers were greatly cheered by the kindness of their friends.

SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

New North Printing Co., Rhinelander, Wis.

Gentlemen:—Enclosed please find money order for $1.50 for which kindly continue sending New North to my address, 608 Bagg St., Detroit, Mich. I am very much pleased with the paper.
Yours truly,
CHAS. SECORD.

DON'T FAVOR DRY TOWN

I have been asked many times since making my announcements for Mayor, what I meant in my statement that I should demand no more nor less than the laws and ordinances require. This was intended for plain language, but in further explanation I will say that if I am elected Mayor of the City of Rhinelander, I shall demand that the laws regulating the liquor traffic be obeyed, both as to closing hours, nights and Sundays, the selling of liquor to minors and the blacklisted. It could scarcely be otherwise, if I lived up to my oath of office. No exceptions would be made in the case of offenders, whether they are worth one dollar or a hundred thousand, each would be punished similarly for the same offense.

I am not in favor of voting Rhinelander "dry" and have never been, but I am strongly in favor of regulation and the enforcement of the laws.

I believe this is what will be expected of Rhinelander's next Mayor and on this platform anticipate my election.

PRESCOTT CALKINS.

WOLGAST IS CHAMPION.

Ad. Wolgast, the fast Milwaukee fighter, won the light weight championship of the world by defeating Battling Nelson in the fortieth round at San Francisco, Tuesday afternoon. In Rhinelander a great deal of interest was taken in the battle and there was considerable Nelson money in sight. When the "Battler" was nothing more than a common pug he figured in a ring contest in this city. He went broke here and borrowed enough money from John Reardon to get out of town.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

That clerks of the circuit courts in Wisconsin who, pursuant to law, have been placed upon a salary basis of compensation, may not retain fees allowed to them by the federal statutes is declared to be the law by the supreme court of Wisconsin, in an opinion by Justice Herwin, handed down.

NEW CONCRETE BLOCK

Chris. Roepcke, the harness man, is considering the building of a concrete business block for his own occupancy in this city. While Mr. Roepcke is as yet uncertain in the matter, he thinks that work will be commenced on the structure in the spring. The location has not been definitely decided upon.

NANY GAMES SCHEDULED

The basket ball team representing Co. L, meets Tomahawk's team at that city Saturday night. A game with Arbor Vitae has been arranged for March 5 Co. L team plays the noted Wausau Cardinals March 11.

INSPECTION APRIL 22nd.

General Chas. King will be in this city to make his annual inspection of Co. L, W. N. G. on April 22.

Watch the Welsen block closely.

Dr. T. R. Welch drove over from Bundy yesterday.

Geo. C. Jewell, the piano man, is numbered among the sick.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Goulette were at Chicago, Sunday, in attendance at the funeral of a relative.

James O'Melia, of the Conro Lumber Company, is attending the lumberman's convention at Milwaukee.

Don't fail to attend the Prescilla Concert, a big musical treat, at the Congregational church tomorrow night.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid Society meets at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon March 2, with Mrs. E. B. Flagg.

Mrs. S. J. Gillespie and little daughter, Janette, returned this morning to St. Cloud after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Orr.

Company L basket ball team defeated the High school team at the Armory last evening 54 to 14. There is another tale to tell on Co. L last Monday night.

The High school basket ball team plays the Antigo High at that city next Saturday evening. A hot contest is anticipated. The last game of the season will take place in this city with the Merrill High school team Friday evening March 4th.
